Dedication: Miss Mary Virginia Garner

To the Godmother of all literary publications at Weslevan, we, the class of 1935 dedicate this, our Veterropt. Ind well might she say with Omar Ybayyam: "With them the seed of Wisdom I did sow,

Ind with my own hand labored it to drow."

Like the philosopher poet of Persia, we too seek the answers to the questions of the Universe. · · · As our theme we offer not bis philosophy but his verses, hoping that each Wesleyanne may realize in the "Oldest and Best" Omar Khayyam's Potter who will so shape her life that she may Find that which she seeks.

MISS HELEN BARTLETT

John has stood by "his own girls" through the trials and tribulations of four years of college, and a more worthy mascot there never was. He was glad with us when we won and sorry with us when we lost, and he was always there to do his part of the cheering. May he always remember the girls of the class of '35 as fondly as they will always think of him.

Miss Bartlett has been our sponsor for only one year, but she has been a friend to each of us for all four years. She has teased us out of our troubles and been glad with us in our happiness. We have been very proud to see her cheering the class of '35 and wearing the colors of the Golden Heart class, and we think she is the grandest sponsor ever.

ANGELA ANDERSON, Gainesville, Fla., came to us last year from F. S. C. W., but she quickly made her place in the life of our class. Perhaps the thing we will remember most about Angie will be her laughter, but she has been active in a large variety of activities. She played soccer both years, was a member of the stunt cast for both years, and is a member of the Dramatic club. This year she was advertising manager of the VETERROPT, and chairman of the social activities committee on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. She is also sergeant-at-arms for the class and is interested in French, English, Biblical literature, as is shown by her membership in the clubs. She is also a member of the Florida club.

A.B. ENGLISH

1 1 1 1

MILLEDGE ANDERSON, Perry, was also a new member of our class last year, coming from Randolph-Macon. There is not any particular word which we can use to describe her because of her individuality. But when we think of Milledge we think first of her taking up tickets at the soccer or basket-ball games or on stunt night. During her junior year she showed how well she could do this, and since then she has always been in demand for such occasions. She was a member of the English club and the golf club her junior year. She is a member of the Biblical Literature club, the Dramatic club, and is president of the Third District club. She has been a monitor for both years and was a Senior adviser.

A.B. PSYCHOLOGY

1 1 1 1

ELEANOR ANTHONY, who came all the way from South Orange, N. J., is versatile, dependable, and an all-round girl. El was president of the class for two years, played soccer, basket-ball, made the swimming team for four years, serving as captain her freshman year, earned her "W" the same year, was a member of Freshman commission, and Sophomore council, made Sophomore honors, is an active member of Dramatic club, received her certificate in Oral English last spring, and is on the Debating council. She was in the class play her sophomore year and directed the class stunt for four years. She was president of the golf club, business manager of the Watchtower, of the Wesleyan, and of the VETER-ROPT. She was voted the most versatile member of the senior class by the student body.

A.B. PSYCHOLOGY

HARRIETTE ELIZABETH BAGGARLY has been a town girl for all four years. We have not known Pat, as she is called by everyone, as well as we would have liked because of that fact. But we will always remember how friendly she was and how cheerfully she smiled. Another thing we will remember about Pat is her tapping, for always when there was a program to be put on by the Physical Education department, Pat was there, tapping away. She was a member of the Biology club during her junior year and she was active in the Town Girls' Association until it was dissolved during her senior year.

A.B. BIOLOGY

ELIZABETH BALDWIN has also been a town girl for the four years we have been at Wesleyan. But we feel that she is definitely a part of our class because she has so keenly participated in all of the college activities. Boots was elected editor of the Wesleyan at the middle of the year, and she soon became so adept at the art that she seemed to be a veteran editor. She served as town girl representative on Honor council for a part of her senior year, also. She was vice-president of the English club her junior year and was active in the Philosophy club. She was among the group who served as Commencement marshals her junior year.

A.B. ENGLISH

1 1 1 1

DOROTHY QUINN BEALL has been a boarding student for all four years even though she lives in Macon. We were awfully glad that she did stay out here, for town girls are particularly welcome in the dormitories. Dot was rather reserved so we learned only gradually what good qualities she had hidden. She was a member of the classical club her freshman year and the Spanish club her junior year. She played soccer her last two years and basket-ball her junior year. All through her college career she was interested in dramatics, and was a member of the Dramatic club for three years. She was among the group who made Sophomore honors, and this year she is president of the Sixth District club.

A.B. BIOLOGY

RUTH RENFROE BROWDER, Macon, surprised us all very much last spring about commencement time when she showed us a diamond ring on her left hand. She was among the first of us to join the married ranks, and we only hope that we will all be as happy as she. Ruth, in her quiet and sweet way, made a place quickly among us our freshman year which has grown with the passing of time. Her interests are shown by her membership in the International Relations and English clubs for two years and in the Philosophy club this year. She served at the Junior prom her freshman year and was a Commencement marshal her junior year.

A.B. HISTORY

1 1 1 1

LOUISE CALDWELL, Alvaton, is such a quiet girl that we have not been able to know her as well as we would have liked to. However, we do know that she is a very dependable girl and will always do what she promises to do. She was a member of the International Relations club for three years and of the Philosophy club for two. She was also a member of the Biblical Literature club and served as secretary of the art club her junior year. She played basket-ball last year and was a member of the Hiking club her first two years. She served as a marshal for the Commencement exercises last year.

KATHLEEN CALLAHAN, Wrens,—better known as Callahan, holds a place in our hearts that none but she can fill. She was elected Miss Conservatory her senior year, was librarian for two years, a member of the Dramatic club, junior editor of the VETERROPT at the Conservatory, and is Conservatory editor of the yearbook this year. She can give you the life of an Elberta peach or the advantages of owning a Chevrolet—but we warn you, don't get her started! She always measures up, and we say, may she continue to do so.

B.M. PIANO

1 1 1 1

ANNIE FRANCES CLOWER, Douglas, was a transfer from S. G. S. C. her junior year. We think she is about the swellest person we know and we are very glad she chose Wesleyan for her last two years. She was a member of Debaters' council last year and on the Watchtower staff. Her interest in a variety of things is shown by her membership in the English club, International Relations and Biblical Literature clubs, and she served the latter as secretary this year. She was captain of the basket-ball team last year and of the soccer team this year. She made varsity soccer this fall and won the tennis championship last spring. She is secretary of the class and is also class representative on Honor council.

A.B. ENGLISH

1 1 1 1

MARTHA COATES has been a member of our class for this year only. She is a Macon girl, but she has entered into all phases of the college life. Coates was a member of the Town Girls' Association for three years and served as vice-president her junior year. Her variety of interests can be determined from her membership in the French, English, Philosophy, and Biblical Literature clubs. She has participated in all sports, playing basket-ball and soccer her freshman year and in the tennis tournament her junior year. She made the swimming team for four years and was in the Life Saving corps for two years. She was in the class play her junior year and in the stunts her first two years.

A.B. FRENCH

1 1 1 1

LOUISE COOK, Fitzgerald, possesses a most unusual wit of which we were unaware until last year. But we always knew that she was a good old girl. She was interested in a large number of things being a member of the Dramatic club for three years, Debaters' council two years, International Relations and Philosophy clubs for two years and in the Glee club her junior year. She was a member of the Classical club for four years serving as secretary and treasurer of it for the last two years. She made soccer team for her last two years and the basket-ball team her junior year, and this year she made varsity soccer. She is snapshot editor of the VETERROPT.

MARY LOUISE DOZIER has been a town girl for four years but we know her for her excellent scholastic record. She made Sophomore honors and was a Commencement marshal her junior year. She was a member of the Town Girls' Association her first three years and in the cast of the stunt for two years. She has been interested in Mathematics, English, and History as is shown by her membership in those clubs. She was student assistant in the alumnae office last year and in the English department this year. She is town girl representative in the class.

CLARA DUKES comes from Pembroke, and attended Andrew College for one year before entering Wesleyan Conservatory. She was president of the Dramatic club, treasurer of the Art club, and secretary and treasurer of the senior class. Clara is a quiet, gentle sort of person, possessing a most likeable manner. And during her idle moments, she and Eulalia may be found draining the coffee pot—fancy that! She has played an important part in our class, and we are proud to claim her.

VIRGINIA EVANS came down to Wesleyan all the way from West Lafayette, Indiana, for her junior and senior years. Previous to that time she attended St. Mary's college. We are awfully glad she did come, and we will always remember her very pleasantly. She was a member of the English club, the French club, and the Cosmopolitan club. She made the soccer squad both years, and in the Senior stunt she was "Little Black Sambo." During her senior year she also got subscriptions for the Macon Telegraph, and almost any morning you could see her going down before breakfast to put our papers in the boxes.

ADDIE FINCHER, Doerun, has a sly way of visiting relatives in Griffin—we never knew anyone to be quite so devoted to one's relatives! Addie is both impish and retiring by turns, and one never knows just what to expect. She attended Andrew College for two years, and since she has been at the Conservatory she has served as postmistress and representative on council. She was elected Conservatory business manager of the VETERROPT this year and filled her place well.

She was a member of the Biology club for four years and of the Biblical Literature and Philosophy clubs her last two years. She was in the stunt cast for three years and on the activity council of the Y. W. C. A. her last two years. She was assistant advertising manager for the Watchtower last year and advertising manager this year. She was sergeant-at-arms for the class her last two years, and she played soccer her junior year. She was on the swimming team for three years.

A.B. BIOLOGY

MARY JENKINS, Blundale, was unanimously voted Miss Wesleyan by the student body this fall. She was named the most outstanding member of her class during the first three years she was here. She was a member of Freshman commission, treasurer of the freshman class, a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet for two years, and president of the Athletic Association this year, having been a member of the board for the three years previous. She played soccer all four years, was captain her junior year, and was on the varsity for three years. She played basketball and was on the swimming team, and she won her "W" her junior year. She was named Miss Health and was a Commencement marshal. She was also very interested in dramatics.

A.B. BIOLOGY

THALIA JOHNSON, Lake Wales, Fla., will be remembered long for the way she could and did play the piano. Whenever anyone either in the class or the student body wanted someone to play or accompany, Thalia was called on. She was on Freshman commission and Sophomore council, serving as secretary of both groups. She was a member of the Classical and Spanish clubs and was secretary of the latter her sophomore year. She was on activity council and on the Watchtower staff her junior year, and that year she was also president of the class. This year she is president of the Florida club, president of the alumnae council, vice-president of the class, and on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. She was one of the Commencement marshals last year.

ELIZABETH JORDAN, Glenwood, is the kind of girl who can always be depended upon. Quietly she goes her own way and gets the things done that should be done. However she is interested in a great many things. She was a member of the Philosophy club for two years and of the International Relations club for three, serving as secretary of the latter club this year. She was on the Debating council for two years and took work at the Conservatory when she was a freshman and sophomore. She was a member of the Hiking club her first two years, played basket-ball her sophomore year, and was on the swimming team for three years.

A.B. HISTORY

KATHERINE JORDAN, Lumber City, is like her cousin, Elizabeth, a very dependable girl. She has a keen sense of humor, and when she smiles her whole face lights up. She was one of the senior representatives on Honor council this year and one of the pictorial editors of the VETERROPT. For the past two years she has been on the activity council of the Y. W. C. A. and a member of the Thespian Dramatic club. She has been a member also of the Biblical Literature, the Philosophy, and the Biology clubs, and this year she is vice-president of the International Relations club. During her senior year she also made the Hiking club.

A.B. HISTORY

1 1 1 1

CHARLOTTE JOYNER has also been a town girl for her whole college career. Of course we would like to have known her better, but we feel that we know her well enough to be sure we can always count on her to do her part. She is quiet and does not push herself, but those who get to know her realize her real worth. For two years she was a chapel monitor, and her senior year she was a student assistant in the registrar's office. She made Sophomore honors, and was one of the group of Commencement marshals her junior year.

A.B. HISTORY

1 1 1 1

MARTHA McCORD is another of the town girl members of our class. We will always remember her smile and the friendly way she spoke to everyone. She was a member of the Town Girls' Association for three years, and held the offices of treasurer and vice-president during that time. She was in the town girls' stunt her freshman and sophomore years. She was a member of the Biblical Literature and Philosophy clubs, and was in the Wesleyan Revue. She played soccer when she was a freshman and has been in several exhibition tapping programs. She belonged to the Classical club for all four years and was president of it her senior year.

EULALIA MILLER, Baconton, attended Andrew College for one year, Wesleyan College one year, and is completing her course in Dramatic art at the Conservatory. Eulalia very successfully creates a spirit of mysteriousness about herself that is quite intriguing. She is business manager of the Dramatic club, vice-president of the senior class. Also being interested in art she is vice-president of the art club. She quickly adapted herself to the life of the Conservatory and has proved a valuable member of our class.

AVIS MARGUERITE MOATE, Devereux. To say that Avis was voted Miss Charming in the superlative elections this year is sufficient in itself, for she is truly a charming person and as president of Y. W. C. A. she has measured up to her responsibility. She was on Freshman commission, Sophomore council, a member of the Watchtower staff for two years, and a Commencement marshal her junior year. She has been an active member of both Debating council and Dramatic club all four years, and a member of the English club, Philosophy club, and has served as Senior adviser. And if you've never heard any of Avis' wild tales, drop around sometime—it's worth it!

A.B. PSYCHOLOGY

1 1 1 1

CAROLYN MOATE is also from Devereux, and when one thinks of sports of any kind, one thinks of Little Moate; but she is also prominent in dramatics. She was a member of the soccer, basket-ball, and swimming teams for all four years, on Y cabinet her junior year, and on the VETERROPT staff her junior and senior years. She has been a member of the Debating council four years, a member of the Dramatic club for four years, being president of the latter this year. At present she is also assistant Dramatic art teacher at the Conservatory. She has been on Y. W. C. A. cabinet—and, well, it seems there's very little she isn't interested in. Luck to you, Little Moate!

A.B. ENGLISH

ELIZABETH MOSELEY is from Union Springs, Ala., and she's proud of it. Moseley was voted most capable this year, and she truly deserved it. She has been outstanding in all lines of journalism at Wesleyan. She was vice-president of Y. W. C. A. cabinet her junior year, business manager of the Wesleyan, on the Watchtower staff, a member of Scribes, is on the VETERROPT staff this year, and edited the handbook last year. She was an assistant librarian for two years, and served as one of the Commencement marshals her junior year. She has also been a member of the Debating council, and a member of the English club for two years. And if you'd like to see some rare reading matter, read Moseley's Wesleyan column in the Telegraph!

MARGARET LOGAN MUNROE, Quincy, Fla., has had a rather varied career at Wesleyan. There are many nice things to be said about Marg, but perhaps the nicest is that she is everyone's friend. She has been a member of the Debating council, Dramatic club, Watchtower staff and Activity council, as well as being on the swimming team. She has been a member of both English and Biblical Literature clubs, and was a Commencement marshal her junior year. She served as treasurer of the class her junior year, and was an excellent class president this past year. And strange as it may seem, Marg was appointed one of the Senior advisers this year.

A.B. BIOLOGY

LOIS NEWSOME, Reynolds, attended Bessie Tift College her first year, but in her three years here she has made herself a valued member of her class. She has been a member of the International Relations club for all three years and has served as both treasurer and president of this organization. She has also been a member of the Biblical Literature, English, Psychology and Philosophy clubs. She has served as a very capable postmistress this year, and in this as in all other things she is always there when needed. We are mighty proud to claim her as a member of our class.

A.B. HISTORY

1 1 1 1

MARY ODEN found her way to Wesleyan from Augusta, and for several reasons we will wager that Macon will see much more of Oden from now on than will Augusta. And we propose that Oden receive a degree in Pharm when she is graduated. She has been a member of the International Relations club, Biblical club, and Classical club. She was columnist on the class edition of the Watchtower, and fancy this—she was president of the Biblical Literature club this year! She has been a member of the golf club for two years, and participated in the golf tournament last year. More power to you, Oden!

She also made Sophomore honors, and served as junior Commencement marshal. While on Y cabinet she was elected secretary her sophomore year, and treasurer her junior year. MARY SEABROOK SMITH, Atlanta. One can hardly find words to describe Smith—she is equally at ease playing with the freshmen and presiding over Honor council—but to us she is the swellest person ever. She has served on Honor council three years, was on the Watchtower staff, Y cabinet, Activity council; was a member of the French and Biblical Literature clubs, and Sophomore council and has been correspondent for the Journal for two years. She was chief Commencement marshal last year, and is one of the Senior advisers this year. She was voted most popular this year, and she is one friend that everyone feels she would like to always keep.

MILDRED SMITH, Augusta, spent one year and a half at Junior College in Augusta, and one-half year at Wesleyan before coming to the Conservatory. She was secretary and treasurer of the Student council last year, and is now president of the same—she was also sophomore representative on council. She has proved herself to be a very capable person as well as a very charming one, and has been an outstanding member of our class.

HAZEL TABOR, Sale City, is a grand girl. She was voted most athletic this year, was tennis champion her sophomore year, was on the soccer, basket-ball, and swimming teams, and made both soccer and basket-ball varsity. She was also a member of the International Relations club, and the English club. She served as treasurer of her class this year. Hazel is another person who can always be counted on to do her part and more, and all our best wishes go with her always.

A.B. HISTORY

MARY DOROTHY TINSLEY, Macon, has been a day student all four years, but Dot has taken an active part in all college activities. She is a member of Student Volunteers, Hiking club, Dramatic club, Biblical Literature club, English club, and Debating council. She served as secretary of the Georgia Methodist Student Conference and was a delegate to the Student Volunteer Conference. She was a Commencement marshal and town girls' representative in the class. She is also a member of the Religious Education club and made Sophomore honors.

A.B. RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

1 1 1 1

MARY HORTENSE TINSLEY, Seoul, Korea. Miss Tinsley has won our admiration and respect by the splendid work she has done in the field of missions in Korea, and we are proud that she is a member of our class. She received her diploma from Scarritt College, her B. Ph. and M.A. degrees from Emory University.

1 1 1 1

MARY JAMIE TYSON, Augusta, attended Andrew before coming to Wesleyan, but she quickly made a place for herself here. She has been a member of the International Relations club for three years, a member of Debating council for two years, a member of the Biblical Literature club for one year, and was in the Augusta club for three years. We think Jamie is a swell girl, and wish her all the luck in the world.

A.B. HISTORY

ELIZABETH WALKER, Macon, has been a town girl until this year, but this one year has shown us how much we have missed in not knowing her better before. She was on the soccer team her freshman and senior years, was a member of the Science club for three years, and also belonged to the Town Girls' Association until it was dissolved. She served on Activity council of Y. W. C. A. for one year. She has fitted into the life on the campus so nicely that we can hardly picture it without her.

A.B. BIOLOGY

1 1 1 1

MARGARET WILSON, Macon, has been a day student for all but one semester, but we've been missing her ever since she moved back to town. She was a member of the Town Girls' Association for three years, was on the soccer team her junior year, has been a member of the International Relations club and the Philosophy club for two years. She took part in the town girls' stunt two years, and participated in the Wesleyan Revue. Marg is a grand girl, and we wish her the best of luck.

A.B. HISTORY

SUSANNE WILSON, Hopkinsville, Ky., was editor-in-chief of the VETERROPT this year, and that means she had to be capable. She was junior assistant on the VETERROPT staff, associate editor of the Watchtower, and on the staff of the Wesleyan edition of the Telegraph. She played soccer her freshman and senior years, was treasurer of Freshman commission, on Sophomore council, vice-president and treasurer of the class, a junior Commencement marshal, and one of the group of Senior advisers. She was also a member of the English and Cosmopolitan clubs. We hope that this biography will not end by being an obituary, but if the duties of editor prove too strenuous and it should serve as both, let us add, she had good intentions.

WE, THE DIGNIFIED ONES

WAY BACK IN 1931 WE WERE FRESHMEN. Some of us remember it quite well. At times we sit and reminisce about it, and for the time being, forget our wrinkles and grey hair. We were boisterous young things. In our present state of dignity we look back with amazement at our former energy. If you don't believe it, just look at the championships we won. First there was basket-ball, which surprised the whole school and us most of all. And then came swimming—thanks to our captain, El. Tennis capped the climax. When Maurine brought in the singles and doubles championship, our heads got too big for our hats. All this time Betty and Lucy were wearing ink-stained fingers and furrowed brows and invoking the Muse in the most approved manner. A class without an equal!

In the course of time and in the natural order of things, we became sophomores. Our number was sadly diminished, and we seemed to unanimously and silently agree that we'd better go in for brain rather than brawn. The results were surprising, to say the least. We yanked trembling Freshies up at the gruesome hour of midnight, and had Sophomore Night instead of Sophomore Day. Spurred by our unexpected originality, we tried composing a comeback to the old classic Tri-K song, and the result of our labors you are singing with us this day, sister sophomores. We had interclass plays that year, also, and due to the able management of one Harriet Campbell we were presented with a silver cup testifying as to our ability to emote. Not bad! Not bad! Hazel saved us that year, athletically speaking, for she turned up with the tennis singles championship, and we felt better then!

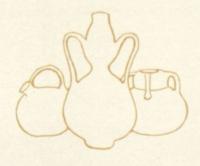

Tempus fugited, a custom in the best of colleges, and we were elevated to the exalted sphere of Juniordom. That fall saw a great increase in the number of those missing, but the remaining few rallied round bravely and preserved the old spirit, and there were some very welcome transfers to help us. As juniors we went to the finals in soccer. Rah for Captain Mary! We won second place in swimming, and the blond-haired gal from Douglas tied the gold and white colors on the tennis cup again. The innovation of a new custom brought special honor to our class, too, for Mary was chosen Miss Health, and though we tried to be modest about it, our chests did have a tendency to swell.

And now we're seniors. There are not many of us, but we feel that we can be justly proud of those of us that are! For four years we have won second place on Stunt Night, which is next best to first place, you must admit. And according to a general consensus of opinion, we seem to have the reputation of at least doing things differently from anyone else! Matrimonial bliss has claimed several from our ranks. Betty Stayer, Jo Redwine, and Ruth Renfroe have left us for more domestic cares, and 'tis rumored that many others of us will follow in their footsteps once we close our fingers around the coveted sheepskin. We salute the succeeding generations, and we only hope that their stay here may be as happy and as profitable as has ours, and that they will feel the genuine love and regret that is ours as we leave the portals of the 'Oldest and Best.'

Kathleen has won a place for herself in the hearts of the girls of her class as well as those of all Wesleyan girls. She has only one more year to be mascot of the class of '36, but we believe that this next year she'll keep them well in the lead in everything.

Even here it is difficult to say Miss Townsend, so "Jinny" it will have to be. It seems as if she should be one of the girls herself instead of sponsor, but she knows what it takes to be a good sponsor, and she has truly been this to her class.

COLLEGIATE CONFESSIONS

(A PLAY IN FOUR ACTS)

SCENE-Second floor junior-senior hall.

TIME-1934-35.

CHARACTERS—Forty girls, aged eighteen to twenty. There are blonds and brunettes, tall girls and short girls, skinny girls and plump girls, pretty girls and not-so-pretty girls.

ADELE CONNER—president of the class. Blond, with executive ability.

EMILY BOSWELL—vice-president of Honor council. Brunette and charming, with a weakness for blond men.

FRANCES McCANN—secretary of Honor council. A small blond who divides her time successfully between intellectual and athletic pursuits.

VIRGINIA BOWERS—the calm and confident vice-president of Y.

THREE SCRIBES—Alice Cook, Helen Pafford, Amy Cleckler. Nose for news, the most characteristic feature of the trio.

ALICE COOK-vice-president of A. A. Noted for her variety of activities.

SYNOPSIS OF ACT III

Early in September forty girls make their appearance with glowing accounts of summer vacations happily spent, and woeful sighs at again commencing the old grind (which after all isn't so bad). The thrill of being chosen as junior sisters partly serves to dispel the gloom, and the approach and arrival of stunt night and soccer season offers full compensation. Stunt night really is a big success, with the juniors winning the silver cup for the second time.

And then, after the nightmares of term papers, comes a brief respite in Christmas holidays, which aren't portrayed on the stage but which furnish much conversation for the characters.

Back to exams (which aren't so horrid as had been expected), and a new semester filled with basket-ball, spring holidays, senior rings and the Junior Prom at the Dempsey; the swimming meet, and again the inevitable exams, with plans for the final act, the senior year.

The theme of this play is perhaps an old story, but it is ever new. And of course the stories on the side, not the kind one prints, add the spice to the drama.

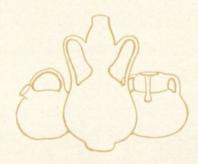

So, for a fuller account, consult any of the forty juniors and promise, "honor bright" not to tell.

-AMY CLECKLER.

MRS. S. L. AKERS Sponsor

The Sophomores as well as the Seniors seem to be partial to little boys as mascots, and Elliot has proven such a popular young man that the Seniors would like to claim him as well as their own John. He has been an ideal mascot for his class and the Seniors are looking to him to lead their sister class to victory and success in everything.

Mrs. Akers has been a member of the Wesleyan family for only a few years, but in that time she has become so much a part of it that it was quite fitting that she should be a sponsor for one of the classes. She has lived up to all expectations, and has been truly a grand sponsor.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

WE ARE THE SOPHS. The Freshmen think we are class-conscious, the Juniors think we are conceited, and the Seniors think we will get over it.

We are the survivors. We are what resulted when the Sophomores released their clutch on us last year and left us to steer our own course. Although the Juniors played mother, nursemaid, chief consoler, and friend to us, some of us did not survive, and our number has decreased slightly. Perhaps the law of averages provides for the fact that we as Sophomores are much more imposing than we as sweet-gentle-quaking-in-our-boots Freshmen were, and thus allows only two-thirds as many Sophomores as Freshmen.

The reversed position which we hold after one year of college life is among the many of Nature's works about which we marvel in thinking over the year which is and shall be among the most cherished of all the years in our lives. Although we cannot see ourselves as Freshmen see us, we can remember how we saw (usually on all sides) the Sophomores of last year. We remember the implicit earnestness with which we endeavored to obey their orders with which they were ever generous.

"Take it from us, Freshie," they said, and we took the soccer basket-ball, and swimming championships. Yes, we remember that: also how we cried in our cranberries Thanksgiving when our Junior sisters sang to us. How we wept! Deep racking sobs . Sincere Freshman tears. . . Tears that only a Freshman who has once experienced the pangs of homesickness is capable of shedding. . .

Another year! We put aside childish ways (?). We find ourselves out until the wee hours exercising the Freshmen as all good Sophs should, teaching them whatevery-Frosh-should-know, and preparing them to cope with the hardships of future life. Is there a Freshman in the class of '38 who cannot stand up and sing "Life Is Just a Bowl of Cherries" when waked suddenly at 3:30 A. M., or eat spaghetti with a knife on unbelievably short notice?

Then to the pleasure of all concerned, and all are concerned, soccer came, as soccer will: for what is the fall without soccer, or vice versa? Since the Frosh had always appeared properly grateful, we felt that they appreciated the undivided attention which we had so readily given. Now we know they were saving their kicking for a purpose. Without a warning word they walked in and took the soccer champion-ship cup right out of our mouths, although we struggled a stout struggle. Now, Freshmen, was that gratitude? (Query: Is hazing actually healthful to the hazee?)

The next thing to happen was the stunt. Incidentally, it happened to make us lie awake by night and sleep by day. We tied with our Senior sisters for second place, thus keeping peace in the family and boosting our superiority complex considerably.

Even now the year is young, and we have much to look forward to. Perhaps it is best that our account is written before the year is over, because we intend to be so busy making history the last part that we will not have time to write it. Then we will see how well history can repeat itself.

MRS. ARTHUR LEE

As the youngest mascot of the youngest class, Anne has three more years to cheer that class on, and from the start she has made so far we are looking for great things from her and her class. We must confess that the Freshmen had excellent taste in their choice of mascots.

1 1 1 1

Mrs. Lee has been sponsor of the class of '38 for this year only, but she was already so well known by all the girls in the gym classes that she fit in beautifully. She is a grand person to have on one's side because she seems always to have an encouraging word, and best of all she is always so optimistic about the outcome of everything in which her class is concerned that we are prone to think perhaps that accounts for the success of the Freshmen so far.

DIARY OF A FRIVOLOUS FRESHMAN

BELLS RINGING, SOPHOMORES BARKING, FRESHMEN CRYING—That bedlam of tumult and shouting, of weeping, wailing, and gnashing of teeth by homesick greenies into the alarmed ears of fond parents miles away (and probably glad of it)! What could it be but the arrival of the Freshman gala and important occasion!

Did the sophs give us time to sing, "Oh beautiful for spacious skies?" They did not. They hardly gave us time to say, "Hey kid," to that newly found person, Miss Bunkmate, and to hang our hat on a nail in the closet where it was destined to remainto the humiliation of a collitch where ladies are expected to remember that they are not at home. We were by turns, scrubwomen, washerwomen, interior decorators, seamstresses, stenographers, and every other kind of drudges the eager slave-drivers could think of. And were we rigged up cute? Hangmen are kinder than sophs! We truly had the litters the night rat court finally crashed thru! Blind as bats, creeping under barbed wire, wriggling in dewy grass on our tummies, and sitting in the cold, cold hold of the Tri-K pirate ship endlessly, until we were called on high to walk the plank-But did we mind? No, siree! We were too proud to be full-fledged frosh to mind changing from green to black-and-white or anything else.

Speaking of pants (women will), we never knew there were so many of them until they migrated in a body to the F. Prom. Everybody was "freshened up" enough to be scarcely recognizable.

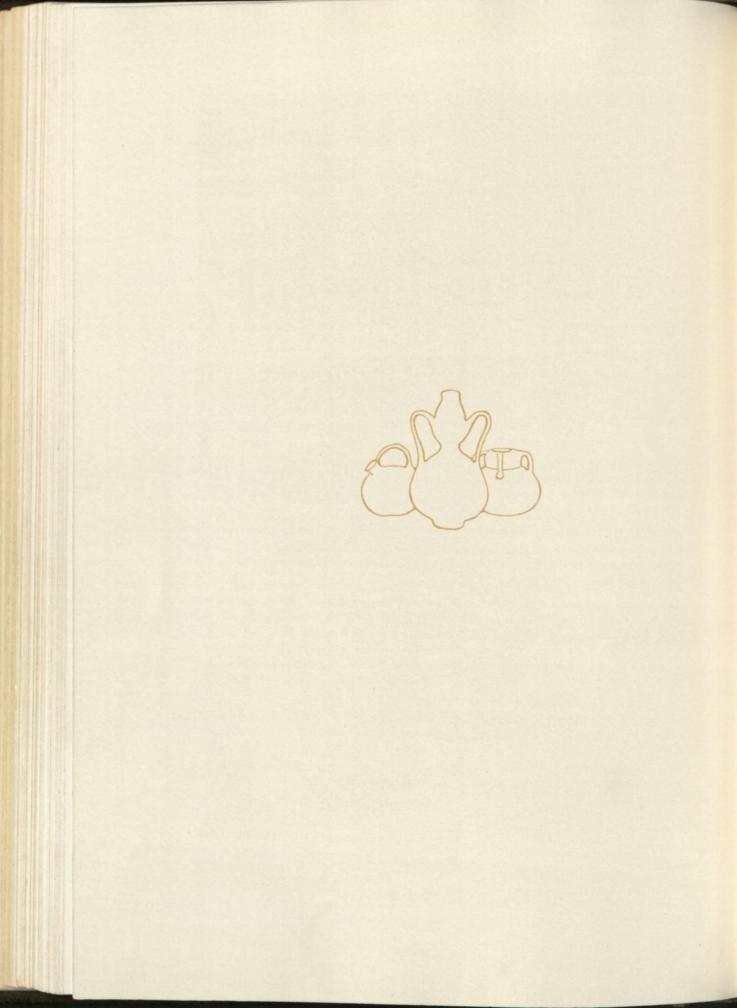

Stunt night was plenty exciting (ask Tim), with little black Sambos and tigers, lords and ladies, devils and freshmen, and talking eggs, all jumbled up together. We were glad the honor of winning went to our sister class since we failed to get it. Never let it be said that we egged them on however.

And, oh, yes. The acquiring of those sisters. That was all very exciting. Most of us got the agony over as soon as possible. Surely, "Will you marry me?", is not as hard to say as, "Will you be my Junior sister?", and it has been said in many a shower or hallway, on the point of flight.

We didn't have to "count our blessings" on Thanksgiving, what with a swell banquet (even if the turkey did taste a trifle salty after "Little Pal") and a championship game through which "the spirit of '38, the spirit to win or lose," carried us through unscathed. We were proud as peacocks of our success and lavender and white streamed over the field, the goal-posts, the door-knobs-to say nothing of the unprotesting pharm, which was smothered in a deluge of screaming humanity and flying legs (shades of the graduates of 1805) and limbs.

Well, goodby now—I've gotta go and when—It's been a swell year—magnanimous, hilarious, wonderful (raving again)—But seriously now—Show us a Freshman who feels that she hasn't accomplished something this year and we'll show you one that didn't go to Wesleyan! And with this as a sample, what will real college life be like? We'll find out next year, and the next, and the next! And through it all the spirit of thirtyeight will be riding high!

Miss Johnson looks as if she is looking mighty hard for that birdie.

Dr. Whitman looks pleasant.

Just a bunch of the girls.

A group of Conservatory lassies look sweet for us.

How long can you hold it, girls?

That sho' is a big opening in Marg's face!

Four freshmen look coy.

And this is how archery is arched.

Angie and Jenkins demonstrate the first steps of the trick Pringle and Pafford perfect in the next snap.

Miss Grote on a Sunday afternoon.

Mr. McKellar looks as a college professor should, doesn't he?

A soccer game from over John Gignilliatt's shoulder.

Miss Stewart looks pretty.

Parky, you're so prissy!

When lowly frosh keep their place—

Hey, Emily, you and Coletta going somewhere?

Those frosh think that car needs decorating.

The freshmen go collegiate and parade at the half.

We never knew Wesleyannes had to lean on lamp posts.

Two juniors show off.

Mr. Steppe and two of our horse fiends.

When Conservatory girls get close to nature—

What are you playing, girls, Romeo and Juliet?

Behind that broad grin is the senior mascot.

Words can't describe that one—you name it!

Annie, the best ever at holding one's head!

Miss Chaplin stops in her stroll to pose for us.

Mr. Quillian better known as "Bugs."

They're looking for opponents, wanta play?

Three seniors in characteristic poses. Tch, tch.

The tennis champs pose informally.

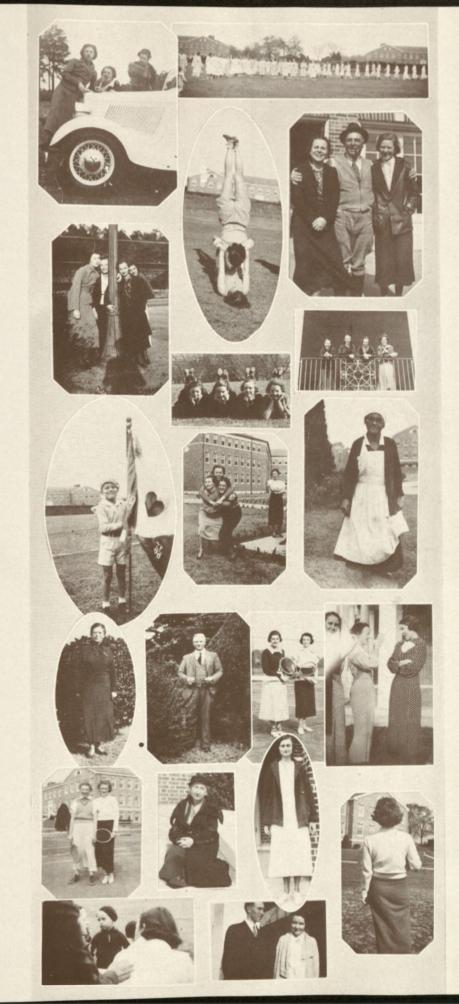

Miss Armand, who holds the purse strings.

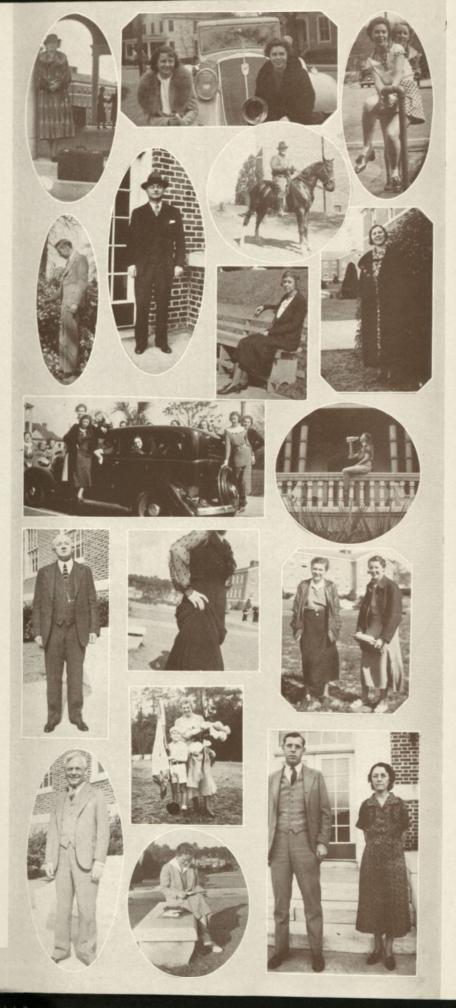

Miss Rosar stops planning meals long enough to smile for us.

The junior mascot and some of his girls.

Dr. and Mrs. Akers oblige by smiling for the camera.

Hum—same size all the way down.

Off for the week-end.

Callahan and Renfro seem to have accepted a position with the ambulance service.

Two Conservatory girls get playful.

Those flowers make a mighty pretty background, Dr. Akers.

Dr. Wiggins looks formidable, doesn't he?

Mr. Steppe and his horse show off for us.

Miss Broome didn't smile for us, but Mrs. Lee seems to be doing her best to make up for it.

This car beats the old woman who lived in a shoe.

She doesn't have to be coaxed to drink her milk.

Wonder what Dr. Rosser is looking for up there?

Pretty good, Pinky, you run Mae West a close second!

My shadow and me pause to make a crack and grin.

Our president smiles.

Don't the senior mascot and sponsor look swell?

Jenkins reading the in evitable letter from Flem.

Mr. Hill and Miss Fulwood are not half so scary as they look here—we know!

Jenkins, Smith, and Thalia in characteristic attitudes.

Girls, you act so ugly!

Dr. Gin looks like the cat who swallowed the canary, as usual.

Page, Thalia and Sudie waiting for the Puritan to get the urge to move.

Dean Smith, who claims kin with us all.

These freshmen look like true horsewomen, what?

Oh, we feel for the gal on the bottom!

A typical Sunday afternoon scene on front campus.

The chef — stay on the good side of him!

Miss Garner got coy and hid behind the car door.

You freshmen make a tender picture!

Miss Loyall smiles for us.

Mary and Mamie—two of the best friends each Wesleyanne has.

Our cheer leader looks as if she might be praying hard for her team to win.

O. K. freshmen, you can't hide behind that little bush.

Miss Bartlett stops teasing long enough to pose for us. Thank you!

One of the riding classes gets settled for a brisk canter.

Jinny's trying to look awfully dignified, but she can't fool us!

Now what can those two be doing?

Mrs. White, the mother of us all.

What a mistake, this should be the end.

Mr. Almand looks awfully happy over something.

We can't figure out just what these frosh are doing, can you?

Dear me, Thelma, we never knew you were a horse!

Good ad for Pitt's, what?

We call that service, Marg.

Four seniors caught off guard.

Wonder what would happen if we pushed those three over?

Four little school butters!

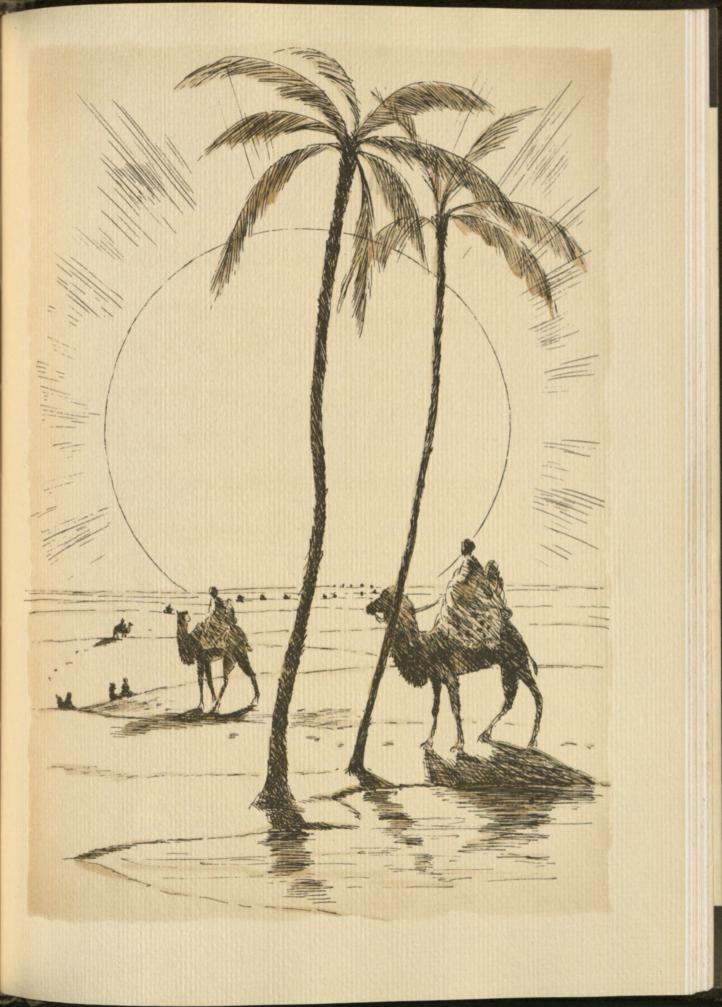

Miss Carnes looks rather chilly, doesn't she?

Would you call that a Pepsodent smile, Sue?

ACTIVITIES AT WESLEYAN

THE ORGANIZATIONS AND ACTIVITIES at Wesleyan play an integral part in the life on the campus. For every field of endeavor there is a representative organization.

The literary publications—the VETERROPT, the Wesleyan Magazine, and the Watchtower—offer means of expression for the young journalist in creative work, news writing, magazine articles and features. Outstanding work in these lines is recognized by election to Scribes, the honorary literary organization of the campus.

Presidents' Council, made up of the presidents and editors of the major organizations and publications, exists that the relationship between the different organizations may be close, and that they may have a mutual bond of interest.

The Y. W. C. A. of Wesleyan, of which each student is a member, has for its purpose the realization of the full, creative life through a growing knowledge of God and the highest development of Christian character. The association is directed by the cabinet.

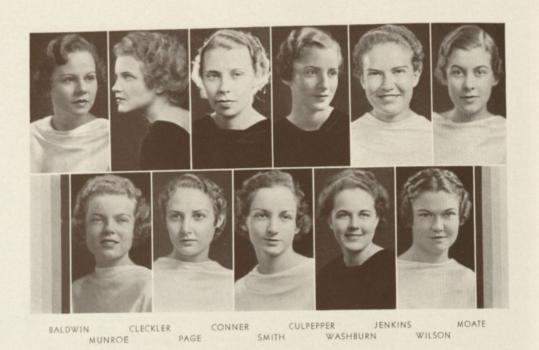

Government of the students is directed by the College Council which consists of faculty members, the president and dean, and the members of Honor Council. The latter is made up of student representatives, and takes preliminary action on all cases of infraction of rules.

The Debating Council and the Dramatic Club offer opportunity to those girls interested in debating or dramatics.

The departmental clubs are a means of furthering the work of the classroom in an interesting and informal way.

Each year, upon recommendation of the faculty of Wesleyan College, a limited number of Seniors is elected to membership in the Phi Delta Phi fraternity, the basis of their election being scholarship, character, and loyalty to the institution.

Thus, by these organizations and the Athletic Association, every phase of college life is represented.

The Phi Delta Phi honorary scholastic society was established in May, 1924, by the Board of Trustees on the recommendation of the faculty. It was to exist for the purpose of giving recognition to girls elected from the senior class who had been outstanding in scholarship, loyalty to the college, and who were considered to be of the highest character. The custom has been continued and each year a limited number of Seniors is elected to membership in this society.

SENIOR SOCCER TEAM

Thanksgiving Day, and the seniors realizing that in spite of slick, muddy fields this was their last chance at a soccer season, defeated the juniors with many slides and slips on both teams. In the next series of games, however, both teams had to give in to their younger sisters.

Although neither the seniors nor juniors have ever won a championship, they have developed good teams and played soccer throughout college for the best in the game. Both teams have placed quite a number of members on varsity and have played some lively games against each other. With Jenkins and McCann carrying the ball on their respective wings, it has been a battle of dribbles, neat passes and kicks.

The senior backfield made it hard for any team to get near their goal. The juniors, as well as the seniors, lost some of their good soccer material last year, but in spite of any odds that were against them, they still had that old fight in them.

A page of champions. Yes, they each have had their year of glory—the sophomores and the freshmen. Each won the soccer title their first year at college. And it was truly a keen game between the two which decided the 1934-35 championship.

With their new red suits the sophomores ran a crimson wave down the soccer field, with dribbles and kicks which were only stopped by the freshmen. And they, all in lavender, made their first year as a soccer team a memorable one.

They must be glad that they have years ahead of them to put their names on the calendar of athletics. And no doubt they'll have the thrill of meeting each other again on the field of battle.

The sophomores have placed several members on varsity for the past two years, and from the way the freshmen started out, they will probably do the same thing.

FRESHMAN SOCCER TEAM

SOCCER VARSITY

MARTHA LIVINGSTON as goal keeper is the proverbial brick wall. She keeps that ball from going through the goal nine times out of ten, and when she drop kicks it—well, sometimes we think she's trying to make a goal just by kicking. She's a power house!

DOT DUPUIS is just a freshman, but if she improves any more in the next four years we feel sorry for her opponents. Dot plays center halfback, and when the forwards need that ball she is always there to send it to them.

FRANCES McCANN is so fast at left outside forward that one can merely describe her progress down the field as here she comes and there she goes. When it comes to the feet—well, McCann's may not be big but they know their soccer.

HELEN SMART is one of those people who are always just where they are needed on the soccer field, and we think none other could quite fill that position at right halfback as she does. She is as smart in soccer as in everything else.

LOUISE COOK—well, we hardly know what the seniors would have done without Cook to send that ball back down the field with one of her far-famed kicks. It must be a comforting feeling to the goalie to know that Cook is right there playing fullback when the ball comes a little too close to the goal area for comfort.

SOCCER VARSITY

JO ESTES plays left fullback and she can really kick that ball as well as do a little fancy playing on her own. She is another one of the freshman hopes for the future, and we predict a brilliant career and more varsities for her.

MARGARET EVANS, Pinkie, to you, plays right inside forward and she leads the goal keepers a merry chase. When she is around that ball is drawn to her feet as if by a magnet, and when Pinkie kicks it goes just where she wants it to. She truly knows her stuff.

MARY JENKINS has made varsity so many times that she seems a traditional part of soccer varsities. She can dribble like nobody's business, she can pass with precision—and well, she just knows her soccer and she keeps those feet of hers busy doing their part.

MARTHA PARK CULPEPPER, better known as Parkie, is another of these stars who make life miserable for those opposite her—and it takes more than one to keep up with Parkie. She is always there when needed, and she does her part the best ever at left halfback.

ANNIE FRANCES CLOWER, or Frannie, is one of the senior wonders. She can dribble, pass, kick—there isn't a thing she doesn't do well. We set her up as a good example of how soccer is played.

ALICE COOK plays center forward, and she also is adept at many things. She is a magician, we think, for she just appears from nowhere at any given moment much to the consternation of her opponents. She is one of the best centers we have seen.

SENIOR BASKET-BALL TEAM ANNIE FRANCES CLOWER, Captain

Starting off with a bang their freshman year by winning the championship, the seniors have let their age tell on them a little. Both this year and last they won their first game of the season, but each time had to give up their claims in the semi-finals.

They tied the juniors this year with something like their freshman spirit, but in the last five minutes the younger team outscored them, eliminating them from the tournament.

Perhaps they realized that this was their last chance at basket-ball. Anyway, they fought!

BASKET-BALL

Basket-ball is where the juniors get their glory. For the past two years they have gone to the finals and have been defeated only by those sophomore champions.

Their freshman year, they won the first game by putting down this year's seniors, but somehow they haven't got that cup—yet.

In spite of the difference in the size of the junior guards and sophomore forwards, they held the score down and if they keep on growing in ability next year as they have this year, just look where they'll be when they are seniors.

JUNIOR BASKET-BALL TEAM EDWINA PRINGLE, Captain

They're good! They must be, since for two years they've claimed that basket-ball title—last year without a doubt and this year with competition from only one source. That was from the juniors who followed with a close score in the final game.

With people like Pinky and Essie making varsity for two years, and having the same team as they did when they began Wesleyan basket-ball, they really play together as true champions should.

That sophomore team just will not take the red and white from the cup!

SOPHOMORE BASKET-BALL TEAM MARGARET EVANS, Captain

BASKET-BALL

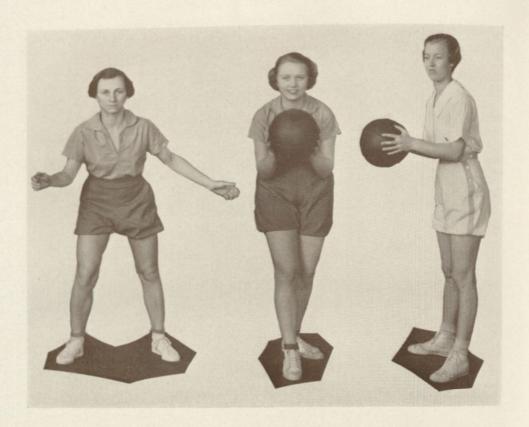

FRESHMAN BASKET-BALL TEAM DOROTHY WINK, Captain

The freshmen hated to get out of that basket-ball tournament so soon, and they fought every-body that tried to put them out. But they lost, and since they did they were glad it was to the juniors who took up their spirit and added it to their own, making the fight for the title just twice as hard for the champions.

Maybe they are like the last lavender and white class who started off their soccer career by not winning a single game, and then won the championship for the next two years.

Better watch those freshmen 'cause they've got the spirit.

BASKET-BALL VARSITY

FRANCES McCANN is one of those fast, tricky guards who are always under foot. When a player gets around McCann she knows she has really got around a hazard. McCann is one of the shining stars of the junior team, and certainly deserves to be one of the first names to appear on varsity.

GERALDINE DORSEY plays the kind of basket-ball you read about. She plays forward and all she has to do is aim in the general direction of the basket and the ball drops in. When it comes to foul shots, Dorsey is a lifesaver for the sophomores for she seldom misses. The gal's really a power on the basket-ball floor.

ANNIE FRANCES CLOWER is the senior pride and joy. Frannie can shoot, pass, and make those foul shots that count, to perfection. She is fast and always is dependable, a combination that is hard to beat. Her playing is a good example of how basketball is played.

BASKET-BALL VARSITY

MARGARET EVANS, the far-famed Pinkie, is as brilliant on the basket-ball floor as on the soccer field and that's saying a lot! She plays a forward position and when she is in range of the basket she nonchalantly flips the ball over her shoulder and the score rolls up impressively. She is a joy to the sophomore's heart, but she is a job for the guards.

ESSIE DAVIS made the position of guard on the varsity this year, and is another whose feet move as quickly on the soccer field as on the basket-ball court. Essie is as fast as the well-known streak, and she sticks like glue to her opponent. She plays a brilliant game and is an asset to any team.

HELEN PAFFORD is a junior contribution to varsity this year at the position of guard. She plays a consistently good game and is one of the most dependable players we know. And when it comes to neat passwork, Pafford surely knows how it is done and demonstrates it often. She's an important member of that smooth-running junior team.

W CLUB

The W Club is composed of girls who have won their W's by making the required number of points participating in athletics on the campus.

1934 SWIMMING CHAMPIONS

The Freshman team won the Swimming meet of 1934, thereby making them the champions for that year.

ARCHERY

BASEBALL

Archery and baseball are two of the minor sports at Wesleyan, but both hold an important place in athletics on the campus.

HORSEBACK RIDING

Horseback riding is one of the most popular sports on the campus and these young ladies are some of its most enthusiastic devotees.

CONSERVATORY BASKET-BALL TEAM

Basket-ball is one of the favorite sports at the Conservatory, and these girls represent the school in that form of athletics.

CONSERVATORY VOLLEY-BALL TEAM

Volley-ball holds a place in the limelight with basket-ball at the Conservatory, and the team is made up of these girls.

EMORY UNIVERSITY

ATLANTA + GEORGIA

Founded in 1836 as a liberal arts College, moved to a new and modern plant following its enlargement into a University in 1915, Emory combines the best of the old in higher education with the best of the new. From the beginning this institution has striven for quality rather than quantity in its student body. The University today, consequently, is small enough for friendly, inspiring relations between students and faculty, yet large enough for the broadening, cultural influence that comes from contact with men in many fields of learning.

Emory's 235-acre campus of rolling woodland is located in the beautiful Druid Hills section of Atlanta, six miles from the heart of the city. There are eighteen buildings of Georgia marble and concrete, constructed along distinctive lines of architecture and providing the most up-todate facilities for study and student life.

The University operates on the four-quarter basis. By attending school in the Summer Quarter, which carries the same credit as each of the three quarters in the regular scholastic year, the student may finish his college course in three years.

Emory is fully approved by the Association of American Universities, the highest of all the accrediting agencies, and each of its professional schools holds an "A" rating in its respecwishes to thank our advertisers and those who, by their help, have made possible the completion of this book.

The staff of the 1935 VETERROPT

IN THE YEARS THAT ARE THE FUTURE, THUS SHALL WE REMEMBER THOSE DIGNIFIED SENIORS—

Jenkins, and her "Well, look" . . "Don't you know?"

Moseley, and her nose for news.

Smith, and her giggle.

Angie, and her grin.

Thalia, and her imitations and her musical fingers.

Helen Smith, and her "Hi, gal."

Walker, and her quaintness.

Gene, and her fingerwaving.

Frannie, and her naivete.

Milledge, and her dumb expressions.

Sudie, and the annual business (?)

El, and her "Where's Moseley?"

Oden, and her very expressive vocabulary.

Evans, and the Telegraph.

Beall, as Nurse Jane Fuzzy-Wuzzy.

Printup, and "Now what would you do?"

Cook, and her jokes.

Sally, and her pep.

Marg, and "Now you just don't understand."

Avis, and her prom trottin'.

Jamie, "Where's Gene?"

Lois, and her unruffled calm.

Dot Royal, and her snapping, black eyes.

Helen, and her continuous state of being in the clouds.

Little Moate, and that far away look.

Tabor, and her calm acceptance of things.

K. Jordan, and her sense of humor.

E. Jordan, and her dependability.

Caldwell, and her likability.

Boots, and her babyishness.

Betty, and her originality.

Ruth, and her gentility.

Marg Wilson, and her love of horses.

M. Dozier, and her intellectuality.

Joyner, and her efficiency.

Tinsley, and her interest in college activities.

Coates, and her utter indifference.

McCord, and her friendliness.

Baggarly, and her book satchel.

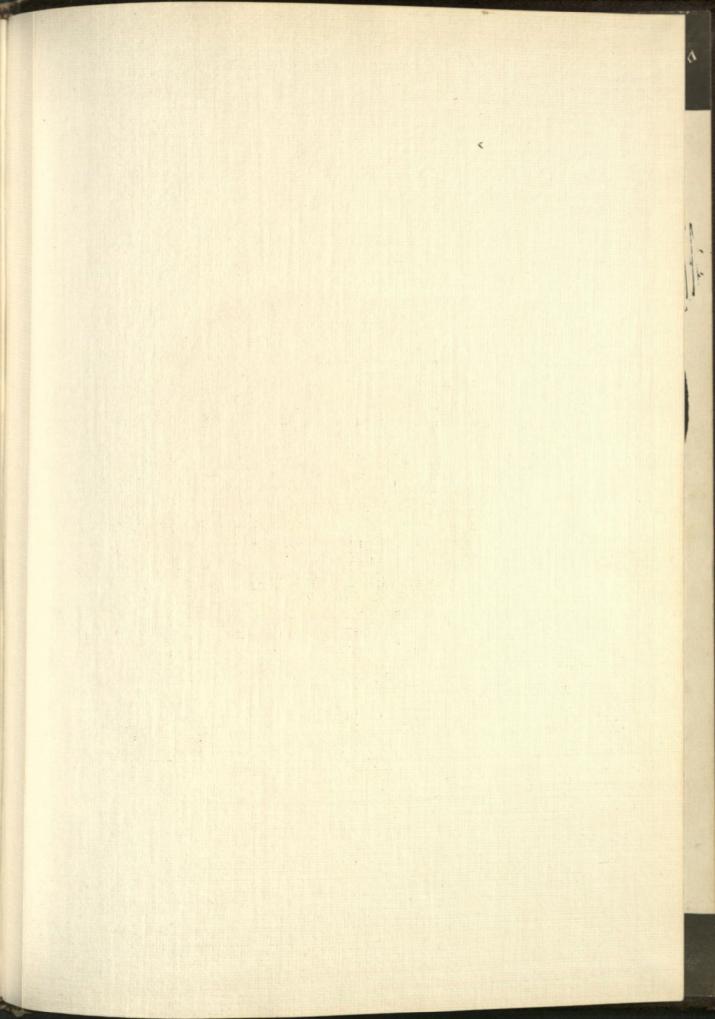

Seward, and her dramatic ability.
